HOW TO USE THIS DOCUMENT

This document has a section covering each step in the hierarchical liturgy. There are some of the major rubrics to consider for each step, and there is a video clip accompanying the step. The video clip may be accessed by scanning the QR code with your phone or tablet.

Alternatively you may go to the online document and follow along there, and use this document for taking notes, and for future reference.

There are also useful appendices at the end of the document (see the table of contents) some which can be cut out and pasted into your liturgy book for reference in the liturgy.

Holy Communion now proceeds in the usual fashion.

The clergy in order of rank receive the body,
from the Bishop, stating their rank and name,
and kissing the Bishops hand and shoulder.

And again receiving the precious blood in the usual manner.

Glossary

appendix A

Dikirion — the two-branched candlestick, signifying the two natures of Christ. Trikirion — the three-branched candlestick, signifying the Trinity.

Zhezl — the bishop's staff. Written jezel in some of the notes; the same object is called simply "the staff" elsewhere, and one spelling should win before this is published.

Orlets — the eagle rug the bishop stands on.

Assigning Subdeacons and Altar Servers

appendix B

The rubrics above call on subdeacons throughout. You may have to appoint one or even two subdeacons choosing adult, experienced altar servers for the role. They should be vested and know the whole sequence beforehand — this is not a role to hand to someone on the day. Another option is to have deacons act as subdeacons.

Where there are no subdeacons, the two senior altar servers, unless blessed to do so do not vest as subdeacons and do not handle the dikirion and trikirion at the blessing.

Another important role, is the altar server who will bring out the bowl, pitcher and towel for the washing of the Bishops hands. Usually this is a junior server who will be greatly encouraged by playing this important role.

Optimally you will have at least two more adult servers who will carry the fans, and who will keep an eye on things on the north and south sides of the altar is a good idea. They should watch the subdeacons for direction, and can be a great help in keeping things running smoothly by paying attention.

Additional altar servers can carry lamps in the entrances, and should behind the other clergy and servers. See the little and great entrances for details. Also try to line the servers up symmetrically if possible: for example if you have two smaller boys carrying lamps and one larger boy, the larger boy should be in the middle.

A Note on the Spiritual role of Altar Servers

appendix C

The following analogy may be useful in helping younger boys to stay focused and on task:

Christians, and especially Orthodox Christians are like God's special forces. We are in the world taking back territory that has been stolen by the evil one.

The temple in which we meet is like a protected forward fort in enemy territory. When we are in the temple, we are in a safe place, with more protection from evil than in the outside world. We come to the temple to be healed from our wounds, to rest, and to be trained for the next battle.

But at any fort you will always have guards, and that is precisely what the altar servers are. And the more alert and focused the servers on their duty no matter how small it may seem, the harder time the enemy will have in attacking our fort.

Serving with More or Less than Two Deacons

appendix D

The rubrics and video above have assumed two deacons, which is the normal case at a hierarchical liturgy. Where fewer are available the duties do not disappear; they are reassigned.

With one deacon, he takes the first and second deacon's part throughout, and the litanies that would alternate fall to him.

Consult the Bishop or your Dean to determine how to handle the "washing of the hands", and censuring during the Cherubic Hymn, which are normally done simultaneously with the second Deacon

Where there are more than two deacons, the third and fourth deacons are given some of the roles of the second deacon, and subdeacons as well.

The following chart shows the typical roles for 2-8 Deacons serving at a liturgy. Read across for each liturgical action, and stop at the column for the number of deacons serving. That will determine which deacon(s) perform that role.

Note: If there are less than 4 deacons, the Trikiri and Dikiri are carried by Subdeacons, and the Fans by either subdeacons or altar servers.

A version sized to be cut out and kept in a service book is at the end of this document, under Pages to Cut Out.

Pages to Cut Out and Add to the Liturgy Book

appendix E

Where a hierarchical liturgy departs from the ordinary one, the difference is easier to keep in the book than in the head. The pages below are set to the size and type of the service book itself, so a printed one can take the place of the handwritten note most of us end up making.

Each is printed on one side only: paste the blank side over the page it replaces, and where a piece spans two facing pages, fold it down the middle into the gutter first.

The sheets themselves are gathered at the end of this document, under Pages to Cut Out, each at the size it should be cut to.

Page 56 — the completion of the vesting. This page adds rubrics for the completion of the vesting of the Bishop; it is pasted over page 56.

Pages 64–65 — the entrance prayers. The ordinary entrance prayers, with the hierarchical addition set where it belongs: after the priest's prayer the deacon and choir intone Ton Despótēn, which is answered often and mispronounced easily, so it is given here with its pronunciation. The ordinary rite then resumes on page 65, undisturbed.

Pages 136–137 — the great commemoration. From the offering through Is Polla Eti Despota. This one spans the open book, so it folds into the gutter and is pasted over both facing pages.

Pages to Cut Out

every sheet in this document, at its true size

Each is printed at the size it should be cut to. Print this document at 100 percent — not "fit to page", which shrinks it just enough to be wrong — and cut on the dashed line. Where a sheet spans two facing pages, fold it down the middle into the gutter. Paste the blank side over the page it replaces.

King, always, now and ever and unto ages of ages. Amen.]

MITER: The Lord has set upon thy head a crown of precious stones; thou didst ask life of him, and he gave thee length of days, always, now and ever and unto ages of ages. Amen.

DIKIRION & TRIKIRION: May thy light so shine before men that they may see thy good works and glorify thy Father, who is in heaven, always, now and ever and unto ages of ages. Amen.

The deacons both cense the Bishop rapidly.

Subdeacons take the Dikiri and Trikir, and return to the Ambo.

As the Bishop blesses the deacons they cense him nine times. turn and reverence the altar, then turn and reverence the Bishop, and return to the front and side of the Bishop.

AT ORDINATIONS

When the candidate is kneeling at the corner of the holy table and the bishop is ready:

PROTOD'N: Let us attend.

BISHOP: The grace divine, which always heals...

CLERGY: Kyrie, eleison. (thrice)

PROTOD'N: Let us pray to the Lord. (in a low voice)

As the bishop prays, the protodeacon (at a diaconal ordination) or the first priest (at a priestly ordination) reads this litany from within the sanctuary, the clergy near him making the responses:

IN PEACE let us pray to the Lord.

R. Lord, have mercy. (after each petition)

For the peace from above and for the salvation of our souls, let us pray to the Lord. R.

For the peace of the whole world, for the welfare

Make us worthy of mercy, O Theotokos, fountain of tenderness. Look upon a people that has sinned, and reveal thy power as always, for we have put our hope in thee. Rejoice, we cry to thee, as once did Gabriel, the leader of the bodiless hosts.

DEACON: Let us pray to the Lord.

Standing before the holy doors, with bowed head the PRIEST says this prayer:

OLORD, stretch forth thy hand from thy holy dwelling place on high, and strengthen me for this thine appointed service, that, standing uncondemned before thy dread throne, I may offer the bloodless sacrifice. For thine is the power and the glory unto ages of ages. Amen.

At this point in a Hierarchical Liturgy the deacon and choir intones:

Ton Despótēn kai Archiaréa hēmōn, Kýrie phýlatte: eis pollà étē, Déspota!

Pronunciation:

ton thes-PO-teen keh ar-hee-eh-REH-ah ee-MON,
KEE-ree-eh FEE-lah-teh: ees poh-LAH EH-tee,
THES-poh-tah!

The non-hierarchical entrance continues here: They turn and bow to each other and, turning west, they bow to the people. They enter the sanctuary as the DEACON says:

IWILL enter thy house; I will worship toward thy holy temple in the fear of thee. Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousness because of mine enemies; make my way straight before thee. For there is no truth in their mouth, their heart is destruction, their throat is an open sepulcher, they flatter with their tongue. Judge them, O God, let them fall by their own counsels; because of their many transgressions cast them out, for they have rebelled against thee. But let all who take refuge in thee rejoice, let them always sing for joy; and do thou dwell in them, that those who love thy Name may exult in thee. For thou blessest the righteous, O Lord; thou coverest us with good will as with a shield. (Ps. 5 : 8-13)

Then they bow three times before the holy table (or they make prostrations when appointed), and the priest kisses the holy Gospel and the holy table while the deacon kisses only the holy table. Then each takes his sticharion and bows three times towards the east, saying within himself:

O God, cleanse me, a sinner, and have mercy on me.

THE DIVINE LITURGY

Again we offer unto thee this ...etc... made perfect in faith:
The priest or bishop takes the censer and says: Especially for our most holy, most pure, most blessed and glorious Lady Theotokos and Ever-virgin Mary and censens before the holy table.

Then the 2nd deacon censens around the holy table, returning the west side, censeng it three times, and going to the SE corner censeng the priest or bishop 3 times.

Meanwhile, the singers:

It is truly meet to bless thee, O Theotokos, ever-blessed and most pure and the Mother of our God. More honorable than the cherubim and more glorious beyond compare than the seraphim, without corruption thou gavest birth to God the Word: true Theotokos, we magnify thee.

At a Hierarchical Liturgy:

As they sing, the first deacon goes to the high place, makes the usual reverences, and kissing the altar as he passes, goes out through the Royal doors.

As the Choir concludes the First Deacon standing in front of the Icon of Christ, exclaims:

FIRST DEACON For All Mankind!

CHOIR RESPONDS For All Mankind!

BISHOP Among the first ...etc

PRIEST RESPONDS Among the first ...etc

FIRST DEACON For His Eminence, The Most Reverend Michael, Archbishop of New York, of the Diocese of New York, and New Jersey, who here offers...

THE DIVINE LITURGY

The deacon now continues the prayer, while returning to the high place saying and pointing to the Diskos and Chalice as he passes ...these Holy Gifts...

Continuing to the High Place

...unto the Lord our God!

And reverencing the High Place and the Bishop continues:

For the most blessed Tikhon, Archbishop of Washington Metropolitan of all America and Canada.

For the holy synod of Bishops, the Most Reverend Metropolitans, Archbishops and Bishops. For the honorable priesthood the diaconate in Christ. For every priestly and monastic order.

And continuing returns to the arch of the Royal doors saying:

For this land, its civil authorities and armed forces.
For peace of the whole world For the good estate of God's Holy Churches For the salvation and assistance of all those who diligently labor and serve
For the healing of the sick, for the repose, pardon, blessed memory, and forgiveness of sins of all Orthodox who have fallen asleep. For the salvation of all the people here present, and for those they have in mind.

And for all mankind!

The First Deacon returns to the high place, makes the usual reverences, and receives a blessing from the Bishop, kissing His hand and shoulder saying: Is Polla Eti Despota!
